COLOR SERGEANT SAMUEL C. GIFFIN

AUTOBIOGRAPHY WRITTEN SEVERAL YEARS BEFORE HIS DEATH.

Interesting Life of An Adams County Soldier Who Could Tell a Good Story and is Buried in National Cemetery.

In a few days after I was in a town called Millerstown and they were anxious to know for a fact if there was any Rebs in Hagerstown I told them I would go up and see, they all agreed that if I would go up and report that they would pay all expenses, I agreed to do so. On the next day I started and when I came to a little town called Waynesboro, I called at the Tavern and got a smile for I was dry. I came to the door and right on the other side of the street was a Shoemaker [illegible] took all the boots and shoes the poor man had, and then mounted and left the town. I did think that spoke well of their bravery. But I got another smile and went on to a place called Leitersburg which is about six miles from Hagerstown, here I stayed all night. The next morning as I was about to leave, the landlord said he did not think that I could get to Hagerstown as there was a strong picket guard around the town. I told him that I had lived in Baltimore and that I had a sick brother in that town and I thought they would let me pass.

On I went, sure enough when I came in sight of the gate-house right on a hill there was a strong mounted picket I walked right on and when I got about ten steps from the picket he sung out, "Halt," I went on until I was even with him. "Why did you not stop when I told you? Why you did not tell me to stop? Where do you live? I live in Leitersburg. Where are you going? I am going to Hagerstown. What for? I want to buy a pair of scythes to mow with, my boys can't mow with the old ones. Have you got a pass? A what, white men don't need passes, we give passes to our negro boys When you come back you must have a pass or we will not let you through the lines."

He let me pass on and I was just thinking how I was to get a pass when a Reb stepped right in front of me crying, "Halt." I stopped, "What did you say?" Says I. Where did I live and where was I going was asked in quick succession. I told him the same story I had told the other one. "But," says he, "You must have a pass or you can't get back." I knew this as well as he did. Now I was in town but how to get out was another question. The first place I made for was a tavern, but all was closed up, I went to another, no whisky, so I began to think it was a dry town. But I heard in the next street a great noise and then I found out the secret.

The army was changing camp grounds and had given orders that they should close all liquor stores until the army should get through the town. But here I had a good chance of seeing how many men they had and I can tell you that there was a great army, which was proven, in a short time after, in Gettysburg. Now I wanted out, I had seen all that I could see, but where was I to get a pass. Where will I get one? If I could get a good drink of whiskey I could think of some plan. So I met a darkey and offered a dollar if he would get me a pint. "Lor Massa! I could not get you a drink if you were dying," So I traveled around town looking everywhere.

At last I saw a man coming up out of a cellar and as he reached the top step he fell back into the cellar. As soon as he left, I walked back, and over the door I read cakes and beer So I walked in and to my happy surprise here was all kinds of drink. After taking a good drink my eyes were open. It was but a short time until in came a Rebel Sergeant and after he looked around I stepped up and in a very friendly manner asked him to take a little drop which he did not refuse. Then him and me sat down and had a talk, he told me what he had heard the officers say, which way they were going, amongst other towns that he named was Gettysburg, and asked me if I had ever been there. I told him that I never was out of Maryland in all my life, then I asked him to take another drink, which he did, then I told him what the pickets had said to me. "Come old man I will get you a pass" So him and me walked down to where the provost office was and like a true soldier says he, "Here is Mr. Clark, of Leitersburg, wishes a pass to his home, he came to town to buy some mowing scythes. Write Mr. Clark a pass," and I got one for Leitersburg. I took the sergeant up to where we got our first drink and there we took our last drink, and then I left Hagerstown.

The first picket hailed me, "halt. Have you a pass?" I took the paper out of my pocket, but he did not read it All right I went on. Next picket, "halt. Have you a pass?" I took it out and handed it to him, he must have been a good scholar for he scarce glanced over it. "All right." Now I was all right if I was only home. I came on to Leitersburg and put up for the night at the same tavern that I had stopped with the night before. After telling him of the sudden death of my brother in Hagerstown I got a good drink and some supper then went to bed to dream how I was to get back to Gettysburg.

In the night there came up an awful storm, and it did rain awful. The next morning I got up and went down stairs and behold my surprise when I saw the barroom literally covered with Rebels sleeping as sound as if they were at home I saw the landlord and he said that the rain had driven them in, said that they had drank nearly all of his whiskey. I asked him if I could get a small horn, he told me where I could get some whisker, for he had to hide it or they would have stolen it all from him. As soon as I got a drink I got a broom and went into the barroom and began to sweep, this wakened them up and the officers were very angry for not being awakened sooner, but in five minutes they were on their horses.

I was watching which way they would go. I had hoped they would go towards Hagerstown but in this I was disappointed, they went the very way I was to go and my pass was out, it would do me no good if I was caught out of Leitersburg. Then I told the landlord all about it, he said that I would have to pass through their lines if I wanted to get to Monterey Springs. I told him I wanted some breakfast and a good drink and I would try it. I got both and paid him for it and bid him good bye. I started toward the mountain and sure enough they had their pickets spread all along the mountain. I went into a field and began driving some cattle toward the mountain and when I got to the woods I put up the mountain as fast as my legs could carry me. They heard me and sung out, "halt." But I did not have time to stop at that time, but they sent up a few shots after me

I ran on up until I came to a ravine in the mountain and running fast I came upon a lot of horses that some farmers had hid in this ravine I looked on the side of the hill and here was our good farmers running for life. I called them but they would scarce stop, I held up my hands so that they saw I had no arms, so one stopped and they all came back to their horses, and I told them all about the matter, they said they had heard the shots, and that was the reason they ran away. After a little talk I got them to move their stock to Monterey We got safe to Monterey Springs and here was, Major Haller and when he heard my report and seen my pass he took me into the barroom and we took a smile, and he told the landlord to let me have anything that I wanted and he would pay for it. When he got back from Harrisburg he gave me a ten dollar bill. He said get some men and cut trees down across the pike, which I did

I had the road well blockaded this was on Friday. On saturday we had some visitors from Gettysburg, amongst them was Henry J Stable, Jacob Brinkerhoff, Jesse Walter and J C. Neely, they put up for the night with us. Early next morning (Sunday) they had their horses out and rode up the pike a little ways to a tavern called Buena Vista, then they would take a smile and ride back to the Monterey House. This they had done several times and about the time I thought it was dinner time they were about to start again. Says I, "you will ride up once too often." "Oh," says Mr Stable "they never can get through them trees that you cut in the road" But I knew better and so they found it out and that before they were aware of it On this trip we heard a sharp order, "halt" But our Gettysburg boys could not see it in that light, and here they came faster and faster, Old Phebe and her rider leading. But the Rebs gave them a few shots by way of making them get! And they did get, past the tavern they flew and all they said, "they are coming!"

Miller, the landford had a pair of valuable horses, he went and put a saddle and bridle on one and tried to lead a race mare by a rope halter around her neck, she would not go. I looked up the pike and saw the Johnnies coming and my pass was out. Says I, "let me on her." I jumped on and off we went. I soon passed my friends for I had no control over my horse, in vain did I beg them to hold up their horses until I could dismount, but they would not stop At length I got off and they rode past me for Millerstown, but Mr. Miller soon came up with his horse and took mine, now I was on foot again. I got up on the fence and waited to see how things would terminate. After they had a good dinner which we should have had, a sergeant with a small force came down the mountain, I just slipped over in a wheatfield and laid down.

The road at this place forked, the left hand led to Millerstown and the other to Emmitsburg. As soon as they had passed the left hand road one of the soldiers says, "sergeant the captain said you should take the left hand road." He halted. There was a house close by and the sergeant called out to a woman standing at the door, "where does that road lead to?", "[illegible]ers own," says she. Right about! was the quick order and away they went. I got up and went to Emmitsburg which was a short distance away, I went into a tavern and here the landlord was flinging about offering to bet that Gen. Lee would be in Emmitsburg next day. I got a drink and left that town for Gettysburg. I went out to Mr. Samuel Moritz who I knew to be a good Union man, and I stayed all night with him, next day he brought me to Gettysburg. In a few days the Rebs began to visit our peaceful town just as the sergeant told me in Hagerstown, I would not like to go over the same road again for the same price. I have found out that many men who had not done as much as I had got more credit.

Thackeray as a Critic.

It cannot be contended that Thackeray was a great critic Indeed, there is not doubt that, as a rule, he preferred second rate books of the first class to the greatest For instance, while, as a matter of course, he admitted that Milton was a great poet, he added that "he was such a bore that no one could read him" Whatever one may think of the discernment of a man who says that, it is impossible to doubt his honesty. He was often led away by the character of the author whose works he was criticising He disapproved of Swift and Sterne and rather grudgingly admitted their qualities, but he gladly praised Pope, whom he loved because of his infirmity and because of the love the poet bore his mother. His judgments came from the heart rather than the intellect. It was fortunate when these coincided.—Lewis Melville in Fortnightly.

WHEN THE GREAT BEAR FIGHTS JAPAN

THE MIKADO CLAIMS TO BE A DESCENDENT OF LEFT EYE OF SUN GODDESS.

The Little Island Empire Since Revolution of 1868 is in Front Rank of Progressive Eastern Countries.

At a time when the little island Empire of Japan is on the verge of war with the great bear of the North, Russia, items in the history of the former may not be uninteresting.

The earliest records of Japan date back to about the Sixth century after Christ. The two greatest authorities are of the opinion that the Japanese are Mongols, they are not the original inhabitants, but came from the South West, and gradually drove the aborigines toward the East and North; like our North American Indians the Ainu have constantly decreased in numbers until at the present time the remnant in the North seems likely to be exterminated, alcohol doing its deadly work.

Izanami and Izamagi, brother and sister, who uniting in marriage gave birth to the islands forming the Japanese Archipelago, and to many other gods and godesses. The birth of the god of fire caused the death of Izanami; later her husband, Izamagi, visited her in the other world with the hope of inducing her to return to him. She desired to do so and bade him wait while she consulted the gods of her present abode. He grew impatient waiting and breaking a tooth from the comb in his hair he lighted it and went in search of his wife and found her seated in the midst of the gods of Thunder, a mass of putrefaction Izamagi returned to south western Japan, on the way he stopped to purify himself by bathing in a stream, and as he threw each article of clothing on the ground new deities were born from them One of these was the Sun Goddess, born from his left eye, and from her the Emperors of Japan are said to be descended.

"The antiquity of the Imperial Family is very great. The Japanese claim that after endless ages spent in higher spheres, it began its earthly career with the first human monarch Jimmu Tenno in the year 660 before Christ." The succession has not followed the lines of legitimacy found in European courts, many Emperors, including the present one, being sons of concubines. "In theory the Mikado—heaven descended, absolute, infallible—has always been the head and fountain of power, it belonged to him by Divine right which none ever dreamed of disputing, one simple rule there was for his subjects, that of implicit obedience. But in reality until the present reign, the Emperor has exercised but little power, some ambitious family managing to possess itself of control over the affairs of State, dwelling in Tokyo, their headquarters, while the real Ruler was kept hidden away his person being too sacred to be gazed upon by the masses of his subjects.

With the revolution of 1868, the power was restored, and the present Emperor placed upon the throne with his capital at Tokyo. He has been a wise and careful Ruler, with Statesmen with whom love of country has been the motive of their lives. In February 1889 the Emperor granted a constitution establishing a Diet consisting of two houses. The first election to the Diet took place in 1890; the Emperor with his cabinet, holding the balance of power.

"Viewed from an English or American point of view, the Japanese are a much governed people, the number of officials being large, their authority great, and all sorts of thing that with us are left to private enterprise being in the hands of the Government."

Gettysburg, Pa., Wednesday, Feb. 3, 1904

THE relations between Roosevelt and Hanna were well illustrated last week in a little incident in the former's official family. A soldiers widow wrote the President a letter saying it was hard to live on $12 a month, and asked to be sent some of his old clothes. The private Secretary of the President sent the letter to Pension Commissioner Ware, who returned it endorsed.

"This letter does not belong to the Pension Bureau, as we have none of the President's old clothes on file here. I suggest that you go over the President's wardrobe, and send this good woman something; only don't send his shoes, Hanna wants these."

Note also that the wants of a soldier's widow is made the subject matter of a joke.

A MATTER OF HEALTH

Our death column tells of lives of children snuffed out by pneumonia. Some weeks ago we repeated editorially what had been recently said by high medical authority that a simple rational living is the strongest guard against this disease. This fact is made prominent in the Exposition now in progress at Johns Hopkins University, where the subject of tuberculosis and all kindred diseases are being illustrated in exhibits, by lectures and in many other ways and from the greatest authorities in the world. One chart contained the very latest knowledge on suggestions for the care of the health and were as follows:

"Live in the fresh air constantly; do not be afraid of cold or damp weather. Be outside all the sunny hours of the day. Avoid overheated and ill-ventilated rooms. Keep the windows of your bedroom open all night. If you avoid a draft of air you need not fear a cold.

"Do not overclothe yourself; wear woolen garments next the skin; but do not wear more clothes than healthy people wear. A cold sponge bath every morning will make you less liable to take cold.

"Drink much milk and eat as much as possible, even if you do not care to."

THREE CIVAL CASES WERE TRIED

WM. G. LEAS—DR. L. H. FACKLER DAMAGE CASE SETTLED AFTER TRIAL WAS ON.

The Stevens and Hartzel Damage Case Resulted in a Verdict for Plaintiff of Two Hundred and Fifty Dollars.

The trial list of civil cases was taken up on Wednesday morning of last week. There were fifteen cases on the list. A jury was selected in case of Wm. G. Leas vs. Dr. Lewis H. Fackler, and all that day the indications were that a battle royal was on between doctors The plaintiff had sued the defendant in trespass for $30,000 damages, alleging carelessness in treatment of his wife during her last illness. J.L.Butt and S.S.Neely, Esqs., representing plaintiff and W. C. Sheely, Esq. the defendant.

The plaintiff and two daughters were on the witness stand on Wednesday, detailing the alleged facts for which suit had been brought, that a hyperdermic injection of ergot had been given the wife of the plaintiff by the defendant. That the needle with which the injection was given was not sterilized in any way the witnesses saw or knew. It was alleged that death followed from blood poison. There was over two dozen doctors in the court house subpoenaed or in attendance for one party or the other in the case. Dr. Heminger of Carlisle was the first witness to go on the stand and medical questions galore were thrown at him. He was called by the plaintiff but stated under cross-examination that the medical profession in some emergencies were compelled to use ergot, notwithstanding that it was known that ergot itself has produced an abscess, gangrene, blood poisoning and death, thus combating the theory of the plaintiff that the hyperdermic needle without being disinfected was the cause of the blood poisoning. Wednesday's session closed with Dr. Heminger's testimony and everything looked like a big interesting battle between doctors. About midnight the parties came to a mutual understanding and when court opened Thursday morning it was announced that case had been settled and costs provided. The exact terms of settlement have not been given out, but it is said that no money passed between plaintiff and defendant. That there was a mutual release of all claims from one to the other, so as not only to end any alleged claim of plaintiff against defendant, but also any alleged claim of the latter growing out of this suit or in any other way against the former.

The case of Harry Stevens vs Frank Hartzell, an action of trespass was begun on Thursday and was not finished until Friday afternoon. Wm. Hersh Esq representing plaintiff and W. C. Sheely Esq. defendant. The defendant had made an information against plaintiff charging him with receiving stolen goods. The defendant had been on a visit to the neighborhood of New Oxford and the night the barn of Charles Hersh was entered, some of defendant's harness was taken. It appeared before information had been made the plaintiff told defendant of some harness which had been left at his place. Notwithstanding what plaintiff had told the defendant, the latter for some reason went ahead and made the information and at last August Court the plaintiff was acquitted of the charges and then brought the action of trespass for damages against defendant for having made the charge against him. When the jury went out on Friday afternoon they had a long tussle with the case and it was after ten o'clock a verdict was reached. Saturday morning the sealed verdict when opened gave the plaintiff two hundred and fifty dollars damages.

Wilson Scott vs Levi Shindledecker, being an appeal involving $10.70 the half of a line fence erected. W. C. Sheely Esq. represented plaintiff and Wm. Hersh Esq. defendant. It appeared early in the trial of the case begun on Friday that a certain notice mentioned in the act authorizing the township auditors to act as fence viewers had not been given and the question at issue became a legal one. The court got rid of the case by taking the view that the notice was necessary and directed a compulsory non-suit to be entered against the plaintiff.

This was the last civil case tried. A jury was selected in the case of Carrie L. Stine vs Sarah Ziegler, ejectment for house and lot on Middle Street this place Judge Swope stated sometime ago that he had been consulted before he was Judge by one of the parties and knew many of the facts and hence could not sit in the case. He will ask a Judge from some other county to try the case, taking it up on Feb. 15

Two cases were settled. Charles T. Ziegler and S. W. Snyder, trading as the Gettysburg Soap Co., vs The L. M. Alleman Hardware Company, was settled by consent of parties in allowing plaintiff to take judgment against defendants for $54 10.

John D. Frock vs. C. J. Spalding and M. E. Stallsmith, trading as Spalding and Stallsmith was settled by consent judgment being entered in favor of the plaintiff for $34 79.

Two cases came to an end by being settled and discontinued. They were John W. Gardner, vs. Amos A. Miller, Ella Miller, Jacob Miller and Geo. C. Miller, and C. Hershey Backenstoe, Receiver of Susquehanna Mutual Fire Insurance Co. of Harrisburg Pa. vs. William R. Wiley.

Seven following cases were continued: John L. Bosserman, Trustee vs. John Wolf; Heirs of David B Russell, deceased, vs. Lester L. Davis; Maria B. Russell vs. Lester L. Davis; Charles B. Schwartz, Administrator of Mrs. Chas. B. Schwartz, deceased, vs H. Augustus Johns. The McCleary-McClellan Live Stock Company vs. Frank Hafer; C. Stewart Lee vs. Samuel L. Johns; Commonwealth vs. E. B Eisenhart and C. W. Butt.

Pain in Stomach

It has been said that a healthy person doesn't know he has a stomach.

How unhealthy the dyspeptic must be! He feels as if he were all stomach, and one thing that makes him feel so is that pain at the pit of the stomach—sometimes an "all-gone feeling"; sometimes a "burning sensation."

"I suffered from pains in my stomach and could not eat. An old gentleman told me to take Hood's Sarsaparilla, which I did, and after the use of four bottles I gained my appetite, and I was soon completely cured, so that now I feel like a new man. On no account would I be without Hood's Sarsaparilla in my house." HENRY CALLAN, 71 Commercial St., Portland, Me.

A BEAUTIFUL TRIBUTE PAID

To the Life and Character of Mrs. Walter Holcomb.

From the Carolina Mascot of Statesville, N. C., is taken the following notice of the death of Mrs. Walter Holcomb. As stated in last week's issue while a physician was applying a cupping glass her clothes took fire and death resulted from injuries received.

"The soul of Mrs Walter Holcomb passed into eternity Thursday afternoon at five o'clock, and death came as a relief. All that could be done by skilled physicians and tender nursing was done, but without effect. Her death is one of the most deplorable that has ever occurred in Statesville. A woman of the rarest accomplishments, a graduate of a high institution of learning was taken from earth.

Mrs. Blanche Robbins Holcomb was the youngest child of Major and Mrs. W. M. Robbins and had passed her twenty-second birthday. She was graduated from Salem Academy. In December 1902 she married Rev. Walter Holcomb and to them was born one child who only lived a few days. She was a devoted wife, an affectionate child and was loved by a host of friends.

The funeral services were conducted from the first Presbyterian church Saturday morning by Rev. H. K. Boyer who in part said:

"Mrs. Blanche Robbins Holcomb was so well known to you that I deem it unnecessary to eulogize her life and character. These speak for themselves today. Her gentle spirit, her refined nature, her devotion to her friends, her parental reverence, and more than all her christian devotion were characteristics of hers, which left their impress, especially upon those who knew her best. It was her home circle and most intimate friends who know best her devotion and faithfulness to the church—to God and his cause.

Her marriage was doubly happy—because she saw before her, an ideal life—expressing herself as thankful to God that He had given her a work to do as a minister's wife. She was all inspiration and courage to her husband, in his work and a part of her last request to him when he returned to her bedside was preach, preach, preach!"

Report has it that there is a case of smallpox and a case of black diphtheria in the Cold Spring district across the ridge.

John Sharrah, Jr., has gone to Baltimore to assort apples in a cold storage for J. W. Thorne.

Rifle matches are very popular and numerous in this community this winter, there being one and two every week for awhile.

With all our cold and snow we still hear that there are a great many partridges still alive.

On account of the severe winter the feed is beginning to be hunted up through here.

Barlow Items.

Barlow, Feb. 2.—Our good friend and threshman Harry T Shryock of Cumberland township, has been wearing a broad smile the last week. This is because he is the proud father of a young daughter.

The zero weather is thought to have ruined all chances for a good crop of peaches, apples, plums and cherries, in this county this year.

Today was ground hog day. This morning the critter came out and took a view at his shadow. Then he went back to his den with a smiling face to keep silent six more weeks. Well we will be perfectly satisfied if he lets up when the six weeks have passed.

A Marvelous Aerial Globe.

One of the attractions planned for the St. Louis World's Fair will be an aerial globe, 700 feet high. Some idea of its magnitude can be obtained after comparing it with the popular Ferris wheel, which is considered a crude affair beside it. This statement is also appropriate, after comparing the celebrated Hostetter's Stomach Bitters with the other stomach remedies. Its 50 years' record of cures puts it so far in the lead as a family medicine that the others are considered crude affairs and hardly worth a trial. Then don't delay longer, as delay is always dangerous, especially in cases of indigestion, dyspepsia, constipation, biliousness, insomnia, chills colds or malaria, fever and ague. The Bitters positively cures these ailments as thousands have voluntarily testified. Try it and see for yourself.

HANDSOME CHURCH BURNED.

The Lutheran Memorial Church of Dr. J. G. Butler damaged $25,000.

Last Friday night the Lutheran Memorial Church of Washington, was damaged $25,000 by flames. Rev. J. G. Butler, who seems to belong to Gettysburg by reasons of his interest in the institution here has been the pastor of the church for thirty years. The fire occurred at a most inopportune moment in the history of the Dr's connection with the church. A reception was in progress in the assembly room celebrating the seventy-eighth birthday of Dr. Butler. The fire started in the steeple, either from defective insulation of the electric light wires, or from a gas jet left burning. Five minutes after first spark was seen the tall wooden tower was a mass of flames. The fire was most spectacular, the tower finally toppled and fell and the roof afterwards fell in. The firemen succeeded in saving it from total destruction. The statue of Martin Luther in front of church was not injured.

GOOD SPIRITS.—Good spirits don't all come from Kentucky. Their main source is the liver—and all the fine spirits ever made in the Blue Grass State could not remedy a bad liver or the hundred-and-one ill effects it produces. You can't have good spirits and a bad liver at the same time. Your liver must be in fine condition if you would feel buoyant, happy and hopeful, bright of eye, light of step, vigorous and successful in your pursuits. You can put your liver in fine condition by using Green's August Flower—the greatest of all medicines for the liver and stomach and a certain cure for dyspepsia or indigestion. It has been a favorite household remedy for over thirty-five years. August Flower will make your liver healthy and active and thus insure you a liberal supply of "good spirits" Trial size, 25c; regular bottles, 75c Sold at People's Drug Store.

H., "No remedy helped me until I began using Electric Bitters, which did me more good than all the medicines I ever used. They have also kept my wife in excellent health for years. She says Electric Bitters are just splendid for female troubles; that they are a grand tonic and invigorator for weak, run down women. No other medicine can take its place in our family." Try them. Sick Blood

Feed pale girls on Scott's Emulsion.

We do not need to give all the reasons why Scott's Emulsion restores the strength and flesh and color of good health to those who suffer from sick blood.

The fact that it is the best preparation of Cod Liver Oil, rich in nutrition, full of healthy stimulation is a suggestion as to why it does what it does.

Scott's Emulsion presents Cod Liver Oil at its best, fullest in strength, least in taste.

Young women in their "teens" are permanently cured of the peculiar disease of the blood which shows itself in paleness, weakness and nervousness, by regular treatment with Scott's Emulsion.

It is a true blood food and is naturally adapted to the cure of the blood sickness from which so many young women suffer.

We will be glad to send a sample to any sufferer.

PERFECT CONFIDENCE.—Where there used to be a feeling of uneasiness and worry in the household when a child showed symptoms of croup, there is now perfect confidence. This is owing to the uniform success of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in the treatment of that disease. Mrs. M. I. Basford, of Poolesville, Md., in speaking of her experience in the use of that remedy says: "I have a world of confidence in Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for I have used it with perfect success. My child Garland is subject to severe attacks of croup and it always gives him prompt relief." For sale by J. H. Huber.

WHEN YOU HAVE A COLD.—The first action when you have a cold should be to relieve the lungs. This is best accomplished by the free use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. This Remedy liquefies the tough mucus and causes its expulsion from the air cells of the lungs, produces a free expectoration, and opens the secretions. A complete cure soon follows. This remedy will cure a severe cold in less time than any other treatment and it leaves the system in a natural and healthy condition. It counteracts any tendency toword pneumonia. For sale by J. H. $100 REWARD $100.—The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials

When tax book of Straban township for 1904 was returned the figures as carried out and added by the assessor made the total valuation of real estate $155,000 less than when last assessed. January 1904 had the Lowest Average Temperature of any corresponding month for 33 years

More than two Months of the Hardest Winter we have had for a quarter of a century, and the ground hog saw his shadow yesterday. He ought to be slaughtered for he has lost all sense of the fitness of things.

Gettysburg Is to Have a Shoe Factory—Mr. J. H. Stine intends quitting the clothing and furnishing goods and will engage in the manufacture of shoes at this place. Mr. Stine has arranged with some of the best men in the shoe business to assist at the beginning and the prospects of success are good. All present stock of clothing belonging to Mr. Stine will be closed out at sacrifice prices within short time.

A Curious Mistake Has Been Discovered in the Commissioners' office. When tax book of Straban township for 1904 was returned the figures as carried out and added by the assessor made the total valuation of real estate $155,000 less than when last assessed. The figures were gone over this week and it has been discovered that a mistake was made in the addition of $100,000, so that the difference in assessed valuation in 1904 and when previously made was but $55 000.

Last Saturday the License for the Eagle Hotel passed from Frank Eberhart to his son George. It is but seven years since the father took hold of this famous battlefield hotel and in that time has made many improvements to the property, a fourth story, a new wing, heat plant, elevator, kept the place furnished up to date, so that he has a plant worth nearly twice what it cost him and with not a dollar of debt on it, a most enviable record of management, upon which he is to be congratulated.

In the twelve days Evangelistic Services just closed, conducted by Dr. Seiber in Lebanon, Pa., over 150 persons signed Consecration and renewal cards asking for the prayers of the church and despite the icy pavements and cold weather the church was crowded each night especially the second week. And the last night every available space, including aisles, gallery, pulpit and altar was filled. Rev P. C. Croll the pastor of the church and his people, who undertook the work with a feeling of doubt at first were overjoyed at the results of Dr. Sieber's work.

Last Friday Evening the College Basketball team defeated the York Y. M. C. A. team by a score of 24 to 14.

The Post Office is Being Changed by Taking so much of the room on the outside as covered by the window in front toward the East. This will give the post office officials much needed room and at the same time leave the public sufficient space. It is to be hoped a big door will replace the two small ones and bring to a finish the acrobatic feats to get in and out of the same.

Rev Father J. T. Crotty announced to his congregation that Andrew Carnegie had promised to pay $750 toward a new organ for St. Francis Xavier Church as soon as the church could raise a similar amount for same purpose. DEATH OF A FORMER RESIDENT

JOHN M. STEVENSON DIES AT ADVANCED AGE OF EIGHTY-SIX YEARS.

George Spangler, of Cumberland Township, the Eldest of a Large Family, Passed Away in His 89th Year.

John M. Stevenson, well known here, a frequent visitor to this place, and at one time a resident, died last Wednesday at the home of his son in Schenectady. He was born and reared here. Early in life he was engaged in mercantile business here with his father. He was associated with Thaddeus Stevens and Col. J. D. Paxton as manager of the Caledonia Iron Works. In 1850 he removed to Baltimore, entering the firm of Reynolds, Smith & Co., wholesale grocers. After death of J. Bowen Smith of the firm, the business was continued by Wm. Reynolds and John M Stevenson, under the firm name of Reynolds & Stevenson. Upon the dissolution of this firm Mr. Stevenson formed a partnership with his father and brother under the firm name of Stevenson & Sons, who purchased the large warehouse on North Howard street where the Academy of Music now stands, where for many years they conducted a wholesale flour and grain commission business. After sale of warehouse to the projectors of the Academy of Music, Mr. Stevenson removed from Baltimore and entered the banking house of his uncle, Wm. Russell, at Lewistown, Pa. Upon the death of his uncle Mr. Stevenson retired from business and has since resided with his two sons, dividing his time between them, visiting once or more a year the scenes of his active business life at Baltimore, Gettysburg and other points. He was more than four score years old, dying in the eighty-sixth year of his age. When he was last in Gettysburg, several months ago, his faculties were as bright and he was as active as many a man half his age. The body was brought to Gettysburg last Saturday, services were held in the Presbyterian church in the afternoon, Rev. D. W. Woods conducting same. Messrs. Geo. M. Walter, Geo. Cobean, James McIlhenny and Riley Harnish acting as pall bearers, interment taking place in the Evergreen Cemetery. Mr. Stevenson was a delightful companion and the past was an open book to him from which he drew facts and experiences which were told with a rare gift. His many friends and acquaintances held him in the highest respect and enjoyed his friendship.

Mr. Stevenson married Miss Margaretta E. Paxton, a sister of Rev. Dr. Wm. M. Paxton of Princeton Theological Seminary. She died in 1896. He leaves two sons—William P. Stevenson, of Roselle, N. J., a banker of New York city, and Rev. Dr. A. Russell Stevenson, pastor of the first Presbyterian Church, of Schenectady, N. Y.

Dr. Moses W. Merryman.

Dr. Moses W. Merryman, who died recently at Atlantic city, entered Preparatory Department of Pennsylvania College in 1841 from Baltimore Co., Md. He was an orator of the Philomathean Society at the anniversary in 1846 and graduated from the college in the class of 1847. He was exceedingly popular with all his college mates. He studied medicine and practiced his profession in Baltimore, Co., for nearly fifty years, was a gentleman of the old school and had many friends. He never married and was about 75 years old.

Miss Harriet Bushey.

Miss Harriet Bushey, of New Chester, was buried in the Union Cemetery, East Berlin, on Jan. 22, the funeral services being conducted by Rev. H. W. Bender, pastor of the Pines church, of which deceased was a faithful member. She was aged 70 years, 3 months and 21 days. She was the daughter of Jacob Bushey, of East Berlin. She kept house many years for the late John Picking but for a number of years made her home with her sister, Mrs. Daniel Miller, of New Chester. She had a wide circle of friends.

George Spangler.

George Spangler, the eldest of the eleven children of Abraham Spangler, died on last Wednesday at his home in Cumberland township at the good age of 88 years, 1 month and 8 days, the age his father reached. A remarkable fact is that his married life covered sixty-three years and in his own family there has never been a day of sickness in all this time and his is the first death. The deceased only a week or two before his death was at work cutting wood and it is thought the exposure added to the infirmities of age, resulted in his death. He followed farming his whole life. He was a staunch Democrat his whole life and was held in the highest esteem by every one that knew him. The funeral took place on last Saturday morning, from his home, the services being conducted by Rev. C. P. Bastian of the Lutheran church at Two Taverns, of which deceased had been a faithful member for years. Interment was in the Evergreen Cemetery. He leaves a wife, two sons and two daughters, Beniah J. of this place and David, of Kansas, Mrs. Samuel Schwartz, of Mountjoy township, and Mrs. William Patterson, of Cumberland township. Five of the eleven children of his father's family survive him. Henry Spangler, of Cumberland township, Wm. Spangler and Miss Sarah Spangler, of this place, Elias Spangler, of Carlisle, and Levi Spangler, of Straban township.

Anna Margaret Ridinger.

Anna Margaret Ridinger, widow of Wm. Ridinger, deceased, died at her home in Wilmington, Del., last Friday night in her 57th year. She was a daughter of the late James Ogden of this place. She was buried in the Evergreen Cemetery on Monday, Rev. V. T. Rue conducting the services. She leaves two children, Herman Ridinger of Wilmington and Mrs. Irene White of Philadelphia. She is survived by one brother and four sisters, Henry Ogden of Granite Station, Miss Caroline Ogden of Harrisburg, Mrs. Maria Funt of Spring Grove, Mrs. Eliza Pottorff of Hanover and Mrs. Mattie Brown of McSherrystown.

Thackeray's Love For America.

In "The Virginians" Thackeray made a reference to "Mr. Washington" which gave offense to certain Americans, as the novelist thought without adequate reason. In his letters to the Baxters now appearing in The Century are these references to the incident, which show his warm feeling for this country:

I fear that confounded line about 'Mr. Washington' has done me a world of mischief in the States, for though English and French laugh when they read it,—there's no use explaining and apologizing to an angry half-educated man—and, ah me! the other 10,000 dollars I counted upon are I fear knocked into nothing by that unlucky blunder.

Cant we find any plan of healing that absurd "Mr. Washington" fued? I feel myself shocked and pained by it as if some dear friend had turned round to abuse me; I who for once in my life kept my own council; who have got to consider yours as my country almost; who have praised the States so outrageously since I came home, and made myself such a violent partizan—How dare people think I could be guilty of such stupid abuse as that they attribute to me? I who love and honor Washington as I love and honour no other man?—"It serves you right" a man said to me in London, You see what good you have got by praising the States—O it puts me in a rage!

Winter Resorts Near Home.

While the multi-millionaire and his associates, who can stand the expense, still continue to pass part of their winter in California, Florida, the West Indies, etc., persons of moderate means are discovering that the Southern New Jersey Coast Resorts offer special inducements to the health or pleasure seeker.

Atlantic City, with its numerous well-heated hotels, with their fine sun parlors, hot seawater baths, etc., in addition to the magnificent boardwalk, which by the contour of the coast receives the full strength of the mid-winter sun and its mild, salubrious salt air, is well adapted for the invalid, while the pleasure seekers will find numerous ways of enjoying themselves.

Cape May and Ocean City also claim their proportion of visitors, both hotels and cottage boarding-houses striving more each year to accommodate the increasing throng of all-the-year-round visitors.

One point to be observed in visiting any of these places is to start right, that is, travel there by the Reading System, whose fast, well-equiped trains leave Chestnut Street and South Street Ferries, Philadelphia, at frequent convenient intervals.

Several of these trains make close connection at Winslow Junction with trains for Lakewood, the noted Winter Resort in the Balmy Jersey Pines.

The Fruitful Porcupine.

From Ernest Thompson Seton's "Fable and Woodmyth" in the February Century.

In the woods of Keewaydin there once roamed a very discontented Porcupine. He was forever fretting. He complained that everything was wrong, till it was perfectly scandalous, and the Great Spirit, getting tired of his grumbling, said:

"You and the world I have made don't seem to fit. One or the other must be wrong. It is easier to change you. You don't like the trees, you are unhappy on the ground, and think everything is upside down, so I'll turn you inside out and put you in the water."

This was the origin of the Shad.

"For the Benefit of Others" by Capt. Allen T. Hodge

Captain Allen T. Hodge of Washington says: "Father John's Medicine cured me of a bad attack of pneumonia and surprised Dr. Boyd, my physician, who said your medicine was 'all right' and ought to be in every family." Physicians prescribe it, and have for years. No opium, morphine or other poisonous drugs. This old remedy derived its name from having been prescribed by an eminent specialist for the late Rev. Fr. John O'Brien of Lowell, Mass., over 50 years ago, by whom it was recommended. It is a food medicine and body builder—nourishing the system and driving out impurities. It cures cold and all throat and lung troubles. Its gentle laxative effect strengthens the stomach and starts the whole system working right—then you have vital force to drive off colds and visiting disease. For sale by J. H. Huber, druglst.

"A Canvas Backed Clam."

Traveling on the Continent of Europe, with a party of young Americans, I was witness of their dismay at being assailed from time to time by friendly English fellow travelers with such questions as these: "Is it not very lonely in Americ a?" Are there any singing birds there? Any wild flowers? Any bishops? Are there booths in the streets of New York? Do people read English books there? Have they heard of Ruskin and how?" These were from the rank and file of questioners, while a very cultivated clergyman lost caste somewhat with our young people by asking confidently, "Are Harvard and Yale both in Boston?" a question which seemed to them as hopelessly benighted as the remark of a lady, just returned from the wonders of the new World, who had been impressed, like all visitors, with the novelties offered in the way of food at the Baltimore-dinner, tables, but still sighed with regret at having been obliged to come away without eating a "canvas-backed clam."

Summer Boarders—Do You Want Any?

The Philadelphia and Reading Railway is arranging for their 1904 edition of "Pleasant Places on the Philadelphia and Reading Railway" containing a list of the Hotels and Boarding Houses accommodating summer boarders located along the main line and branches of the company, and their rates, etc.

To get a full list the station agents within easy reach of Philadelphia have received blanks giving the information desired and if you wish your house to be included, you are requested to call on the nearest Philadelphia and Reading Agent and give him the necessary particulars.

As this book has to be ready for distribution at the beginning of the season, it is imperatively requisite that this information be furnished at once.

POISON OF THE RATTLER.

Not Nearly as Dangerous as It Is Popularly Supposed to Be.

"There is a good deal more fright about the bite of a rattlesnake than there is actual danger," said a well known physician recently. "I do not mean to say that the bite of a rattler is not a very serious thing, but I do mean to say that this particular sort of snake is really not so ready or apt to 'get in his bite' as some others.

"In the first place, there is the now generally credited fact that the rattler is the most honest of snakes. He doesn't 'pick a fight.' He doesn't lay in wait for any one. He won't run away, of course, for he is a plucky reptile, but he will curl up and give you a fair warning from those rattles of his before he attempts to strike. I remember once in the west finding a rattler just ahead of my horse's fore feet. I had no weapon of any sort, so I rode on, passing within a few inches of the reptile. The snake was curled and ready for my horse in case the animal side stepped, but as we did nothing of that sort we were allowed to pass in peace.

"Again, the truth is that the poison of the rattler does not get into the wound inflicted by the fangs in the average human being. For the average human being nowadays is clothed, and the holes in the fangs through which the poison comes are rather far up toward the roof of the mouth. Consequently very often the point of the fangs may enter the skin, while the poison dribbles out harmlessly enough upon the trousers or the boot. It is then that the 'victim' gets scared, fills up on whisky—a bad thing in bona fide cases of rattlesnake bite—and believes himself marvelously cured when he wakes up next day."—Philadelphia Press.

Editorial Consolation.

The senator had dropped in for a friendly chat with his friend the editor of his home paper and had hardly seated himself when there appeared a well known character of the town, a type of individual common to every locality, the man who knows "how the paper ought to be run."

Without noticing the presence of the senator the man launched into a complaint that the paper had not printed certain articles he had written for it.

"Why," said he, "I gave 'em to you months ago. What have you done with 'em?"

The editor smiled sadly. "I'm holding them," he replied. "And they serve a very good purpose too. Now and then I get to thinking that perhaps we are not offering the public as good a paper as we ought to. At such times I look up your articles and see how much worse the sheet might be. So I become real cheerful again. Please don't take them from me!"

HOW TURKS MAKE COFFEE.

It Isn't Easy, but the Product Is Delightful In Its Flavor.

To make the perfect cup of Turkish coffee is like many other things, very easy when the maker knows how to do it, but unless the art has been learned in Turkey it is difficult.

No one can make a perfect cup of coffee unless he has been to Turkey. There is as much difference between the ordinary cup of coffee and the exquisite and alluring beverage with all its subtle aroma as made by the artist as there is between horsefleah and the best English beef. The Turks' method is simple. They have many little pots of various sizes. If they want to make two cups only they use the smaller one, and if three cups a larger one. When the water has boiled they fill the little pot almost to the top with water, then put in three lumps of sugar and put the pot on the fire to boil. When it is hot they put in two teaspoonfuls of coffee ground very fine and then stir it round until it is thoroughly mixed with the water.

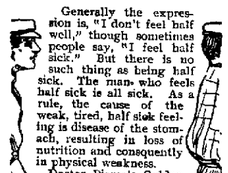
The next step is to place the pot on the fire again and watch it very carefully until the coffee bubbles up to a froth, and before this froth escapes over the side you take the pot from the fire and tap the bottom gently on the stove till the froth goes down. Once again the coffee is allowed to bubble over the fire, and the process of tapping the pot on the stove is repeated three times.

When the froth rises to the surface for the fourth time the pot should be taken from the fire and the coffee should be poured first into one cup and then into another, so that each cup contains a portion of the froth on the top.

The Englishman cannot make coffee at all. He tries hard, but never succeeds either in making a perfect cup of Turkish or French coffee. The Frenchman, on the other hand, also tries hard to make a perfect cup of Turkish coffee, but he meets with little more success than the Englishman.

One thing must never be forgotten—the coffee must be roasted and ground. It must not be roasted too black. A dark brown is the ideal color. Then the flavor is divine.—Boston Globe.

HALF SICK



Generally the expression is, "I don't feel half well," though sometimes people say, "I feel half sick." But there is no such thing as being half sick. The man who feels half sick is all sick. As a rule, the cause of the weak, tired, half sick feeling is disease of the stomach, resulting in loss of nutrition and consequently in physical weakness.

Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It restores strength by enabling the stomach, digestion and assimilation of food. It makes half sick people all well.

"I suffered for four years with pain in my stomach so that at times I couldn't work nor eat," writes Mr. Frank Smith, of Granite, Chaffee Co., Colo. "I wrote to you about my sickness and was told to use your medicines, which I did with good results. I only used four bottles of your 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and must say that I am entirely cured and feel like a new man, and can highly recommend your medicine to any sufferer."

"Golden Medical Discovery" contains no alcohol and is entirely free from opium, cocaine and all other narcotics. It is strictly a temperance medicine.

Accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery." There is nothing "just as good" for diseases of the stomach.

The "Common Sense Medical Adviser," one thousand and eight large pages, in paper covers, is sent free on receipt of twenty-one one-cent stamps, to pay expense of mailing only. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Doan's Kidney Pills

Mr. S. R. Bolinger, who resides at 426 South Dukes street, bookkeeper at W. H. Hoffecker's cigar factory, York, Pa., says: "Backache became so frequent that not finding anything to cure it or even to relieve it I could not do a day's work without suffering. While trying one medicine after another my attention was attracted by an account of Doan's Kidney Pills in the papers, and of course they in turn were given a trial. I procured them at Hodnett's drug store. Before I had taken a box of them I had no backache. I could work at my trade, do a day's work without suffering, and was told to use

THE END OF NIAGARA.

In Twenty-five Centuries the Great Falls Will Have Disappeared.

In 2,500 years hence the discharge of the Niagara will have become intermittent, ceasing at low stages of the lake, and finally the Niagara river, on the rising edge of the basin, will have its waters turned back and southward, and no water will flow over the Niagara escarpment of that day. Through that agency alone Niagara falls will cease to exist long before the escarpment has been worn away to the river level at Grand Island, but as it is even now lessening the volume of water poured over the falls the erosive power of the stream is diminishing, and we must therefore increase the period necessary for the retreat of the Canadian falls to the south end of Goat Island and the stealing of the waters of the American falls.

Assuming the continuity of the forces named, we might outline the probable future life and death of the falls thus:

With progressive loss in water volume the Canadian falls will reach the south end of Goat island in from 1,000 to 1,500 years, the death of the American falls

The flow of the waters will now have become intermittent, and at first only, at periods of mean and high water in Lake Erie, eventually at high water alone, will there be any discharge over the escarpment. This will continue for a period of from 1,500 to 2,000 years.

The entire flow to the north will cease, and the river will flow back into Lake Erie, leaving the escarpment dry at a point not very far south of Goat Island and with a height of about 100 feet. This will be 3,500 years hence the death of Niagara falls.—John M. Clarke, Ph. D., LL. D., in Harper's Weekly.

An Effective Touch.

A western senator tells a story of a judge who had occasion to fine a lawyer in that state $100 for contempt of court.

After court had adjourned the lawyer approached the judge and said, "Your honor, I want to ask a great favor of you."

"What is it?" inquired the judge.

"I have a pressing obligation to meet. That hundred you took for that fine was the money I had to meet it with. I wish you would lend me $100 for a few days."

"Hi, Mr. Crier," shouted the judge, "convene court again!" Court was reconvened and then the judge remitted the fine.

AN EDITOR'S EXPERIENCE

In the Treatment of Humours with More Than Magical Effect with

CUTICURA REMEDIES.

A Remarkable Testimonial from a Most Intelligent and Trustworthy Lady.

"A tumor came on my neck and in a day or two it was as large as half an orange. I was very much alarmed for fear it was malignant. My friends tried to persuade me to consult my physician; but dreading that he would insist on using the knife, I would not consent to go. Instead, I got Cuticura Resolvent and Cuticura Ointment. I took the former according to directions, and spread a thick layer of the Ointment on the swelling. On renewing it I would bathe my neck in very warm water and Cuticura Soap. In a few days the Cuticura Ointment had drawn the swelling to a head, when it broke. Every morning it was opened with a large sterilized needle, squeezed and bathed, and fresh Ointment put on. Pus and blood, and a yellow, cheesy, tumorous matter came out. In about three or four weeks' time this treatment completely eliminated the tumor. The sciences that had extended down into my chest was all done, and my neck now seems to be perfectly well.

"About five or six years ago my sister had a similar experience, used the Cuticura Remedies with magical effect. I am willing you should use my testimonial, with the further privilege of revealing my name and address to such persons as may wish to substantiate the above statements by personal letter to me." Chicago, Nov. 12, 1902.

Sold throughout the world. Cuticura Resolvent, Pills (in form of Chocolate Coated Pills, 25c. per vial of 60), Ointment, 25c., Soap, 25c. Depots: London, 27 Charterhouse Sq.; Paris, 5 Rue de la Paix; Boston, 137 Columbus Ave. Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Sole Proprietors. Send for "How to Cure Every Humour."
